- Prospective buyers and renters will be shown the BER rating (Alphanumeric value) along with other prescribed content (dependent on the particular medium) in a prominent location in each specific advertisement

- The BER Alphanumeric Rating Motif artwork files will be made available in electronic format from the SEAI website or on request to info@ber.seai.ie
- When buildings are otherwise exempt from the requirements to have a BER, as set out in Article 4 of S.I. 243 of 2012, then the words BER Exempt should be substituted for the BER Alphanumeric in accordance with the guidelines prescribed for each specific media type.

BER Alphanumeric Rating Motif

The motif comprises two discrete but interconnected elements:

- BER emblem
- BER Alphanumeric rating (A1-G) depending on the specific property being promoted

BER Alphanumeric Rating text

The BER Alphanumeric Rating as shown on the BER cert when it is displayed in text.

- The prefix “BER:” must precede the BER Alphanumeric Rating when it is displayed in text

BER Number for Specific Property

- The prefix “BER No.” must precede the BER nine-digit number when it is displayed in text
- BER nine-digit number as reflected on the BER cert and the BER National Administration System database. (Depending on the medium this component may or may not be included.)

Energy Performance Indicator

The Energy Performance Indicator shown on a BER certificate is the energy required for space heating and cooling, water heating, ventilation and lighting. It is expressed in kilowatt hours per m² of floor area per year (kWh/m²/yr). It allows for an objective comparison of different buildings on a like for like basis, even those within the same BER grade.

- “Energy Performance Indicator:” must precede the Energy Performance Indicator numerical value
- “kWh/m²/yr” must follow the Energy Performance Indicator numerical value as a whole number (no decimal places)

Energy Performance Indicator: 123 kWh/m²/yr

Size

- For each medium where the BER Alphanumeric Rating Motif is utilised, minimum sizes are prescribed (see specific application guidelines pages)
- The relative width and height of the BER Alphanumeric Rating Motif must not be altered from that supplied in the prescribed electronic files
- However in all instances the size used should be sufficient that the BER Alphanumeric Rating Motif is clearly legible by the intended audience, relative to the overall size of advertising medium and such that other content in the advertisement does not deliberately diminish the legibility of rating

Minimum Size

- Minimum Height for print: 3mm to include the white clearance zone (10% of size of .eps artwork files supplied)
- Minimum Height for web: 17 pixels to include the white clearance zone
- Minimum Height for an Estate Agent display board: 5% of total display board height

Clearance Zone and Background

The BER Alphanumeric Rating Motif is placed on its own white background which defines the clearance zone for it. Any elements within this clearance zone should not be altered. Also, designers using the motif should not do anything within the overall design which could be construed as deliberately distracting from or allowing for misrepresentation / misinterpretation of the motif.

2.5 Colours

The colours are per those set down in the electronic formats by SEAI and no effort should be made to amend these colours, particularly as they relate to conveying the energy rating of the property. However for avoidance of doubt the BER Alphanumeric Rating Motif colours are shown opposite.

Should the BER Alphanumeric Rating Motif need to be reproduced in single colour the prescribed Black and White artwork should be used. Do not tint any colours or reproduce the motif in any other colours than those prescribed.

3.16 Multiple Property Advertisements

Multiple property advertising follows the same guidelines as denoted in Sections 3.1 to 3.14 of this document. The guidance on the previous pages relates generally to single property advertisements. However in instances where the advertisement relates to more than one property e.g. homes in a speculative development, apartments in a single complex then the following additional guidelines apply.

BER Alphanumeric Rating Motif

Where the particular advertisement relates to more than one property then the following rule exists for presenting the Alphanumeric rating:

- Indicate the range of BER ratings for all relevant properties using the prescribed dual BER Alphanumeric Rating Motif indicating the most efficient rating first and least efficient rating second
- Use electronic format for the motif as supplied by SEAI

BER Alphanumeric Rating text

Indicate the range of BER ratings for all relevant properties in text, indicating the most efficient rating first and least efficient rating second.

BER Number

Where the particular advertisement relates to more than one property then no BER number need be indicated, however the brochure/ website should clearly state where the BER numbers for all relevant properties may be sought and this should be available on demand, from the time of placing of the advertisement.

Energy Performance Indicator

Where the particular advertisement relates to more than one property then present the Energy Performance Indicator or EPI (where it is specifically mandated for the medium) in the following manner:

- Indicate the range of EPIs from lowest value (first) to highest value (second) for all relevant properties
- Should be clearly denoted on the advertisement in clearly legible text.

3.17 BER Exempt Property Advertisements
